Miners Refuse 14 Pct. Increase Offered By U. S. Government, Operators Disappointed At Terms

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—All eyes of the government have been turned to solve the bituminous coal strike early today the situation was far from adjustment as it was for the negotiations began.

The last move was made by Fuel Administrator Garfield who last night told the miners and operators of a new plan of settling the dispute. The plan offered the miners a 14 percent increase in wages with the stipulation that there would be no increase in the cost of coal to the public.

The miners' union, however, rejected the offer, stating that they would not accept the 14 percent increase and that under such a plan they would not return to work.

EXECUTION OF GEN. ANGELES MAY SPUR VILLA TO ACTION

EL PASO, TEXAS, Nov. 27.—Percy have orders to keep strict watch on all suspicious characters and a strong patrol was maintained on the streets.

In his testimony before the military board, by which he was tried, General Angeles repeatedly denied that he had taken arms against the Carranza government, but asserted that he returned to Mexico, merely to effect a union of all elements, according to a detailed story of the trial, published by El Heraldo, of Chihuahua City.

General Angeles bitterly attacked what he termed "the strong passions" of the Mexican people.

"To correct these errors, I exposed my life," said Angeles. "Despite my previous relations with Villa, it was dangerous for me to treat with him, for he made use of threats when I made bold to contradict him."

Cabinet Meeting May Be Called Should Mexico Refuse To Meet Demands Of U. S. In Jenkins' Case

"QUAKE" SHOCK PRODUCED WHEN HUGE METEOR FALLS

DETROIT, MICH., Nov. 27.—There is a meteor of tremendous size plumed into Lake Michigan last night, causing earth tremors felt in a dozen southern Michigan cities and sending a pillar of flame hundreds of feet into the air, which was visible for a radius of more than 50 miles, was the theory generally accepted early today in explanation of the earth shock, which at first was believed to have been caused by a terrific explosion at some industrial plant.

From reports from various Michigan, Indiana, Illinois cities, where the blinding flare was visible, it appeared the center of disturbance was near the lower end of Lake Michigan. Coast guards at Grand Haven were firm in their assertions that they had witnessed the event.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—a cabinet meeting would be called to Mexico's note refusing to comply with the state department's recent demand for the release of William O. Jenkins, most immediately on receipt of the American consular agent's report on the situation in the state of Jalisco, on a charge that he conspired with the bandits who kidnapped and held him for ransom, had their cause of the controversy and representatives of foreign governments watched the situation with keen interest.

The only information officials had that a reply had been sent was contained in press dispatches last night. The text of the reply as carried by these dispatches was read carefully, but comment was withheld pending receipt and consideration of the official copy.

Although this was a legal holiday, the state department officials were at their offices early to await receipt of the Mexican communication. There was no indication, however, as to when a reply had been sent.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Belief that the relations of friendship between Mexico and the United States "cannot be affected unfavorably" by the former's refusal to take steps looking to the release of William O. Jenkins, U. S. consular agent, from the penitentiary in Puebla, was expressed in the note replying to the American demand for Jenkins' release.

DRY LAWS TO HAVE NO FRILLS

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 27.—The sale and manufacture for sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited under penalty of $100 to $500 for first violation, $250 to $1,000 for second offense, and imprisonment and subsequent offenses.

This, in substance and in round numbers, will be the extent of legislation the Anti-Saloon League will attempt next month if it follows the expressed desire of Republican organization and legislative dry leaders.

It is believed the assembly will reject any such extended, detailed legislative proposal as the Grange bill of the last session. Drys in the assembly say they hope the league will consent to what they wanted last winter—a simple, brief penal action, embodying practically the language of the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

SCHEDULE
Play House Alleys
Thursday—Electric vs. Lancers.

For the first time since the Masonic Bowling League opened this season, the Norwoods were given a rude shock last night. Captain Dallas Lemon and his warriors held, handed the leaders a terrible jolt under their fifth ribs and grabbed off two out of three games at the Play House alleys, bringing the leaders to within hitting distance of the remaining teams. No records were shattered and none approached, but considerable pep was tossed into action as the famous harp-tossed Captain Lemon's bunch of plumpsters. The scores:

VARGA TO MEET FOX

When Charles E. Fox of Cleveland, champion light heavyweight boxer of America, and Joe Varga, champion of the world, meet in their fight, the winners of which is the better man. When these two meet here a few weeks ago the bout lasted two hours and five minutes without a full and free fight. However, this bout will settle the question, as, barring accidents, the men will be in fine condition and the stakes, which have been posted, are sufficient to make both men work their hardest to win. The match will be for two falls out of three.

Fox will be in Portsmouth Sunday or Monday and will bring his two little boys for a visit with friends here and the youngsters will put on a ten minute boxing or wrestling bout as a preliminary to the main bout. The boys are only seven and eight years old and are real experts on the mat or with the gloves. The match will be in the Victoria cafeteria hall Tuesday night and the preliminaries will start at 8 o'clock and the main bout right after, on time at 8:30. Ringside seats may be reserved at the Saucke House, Play House or at the East End Barber Shop.

Army And Navy Teams Will Clash On Saturday

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Football and the sports floors all form a circus since 1916, due to the war. With the Polo grounds stands from the football clashes of the last year and Western colleges. From thousands of spectators take on an aspect far from a big variety of uniformed generals and admirals and shoulders with distinguished diplomas, giving an atmosphere which is unknown at other football games.

These conditions form a peculiar attraction which makes the Army-Navy match stand alone and causes the demand for tickets to far exceed the supply. The game tomorrow is no exception to this rule and the situation is more acute in view of the fact that this is the first meeting of the two teams since 1916, due to the war.

Willard Wants Another Crack At Dempsey

In spite of his defeat last July Joe Willard wants to come back in a return match against Jack Dempsey and has been weighing the matter to arrange the affair.

Richard says he has been on busy that he has not replied to messages from Ray Archer Willard's manager, in which he said he was hesitatingly waiting an answer and that the bout was on which he wanted to see Rick and was imperative.

"Willard was deeply disappointed over his showing in the Dempsey fight," Richard said the other day. "I think he is anxious to redouble himself in the eyes of the public. Willard now has his mistake in not training some out never occurred to him."

PROMISES A BEAUTIFUL ROW

THE prospects are fair that Ohio will be enlivened by one of its old time political feuds, this year impending. Harry Daugherty, who may be assumed to speak both officially and authentically, makes the pronouncement that Senator Harding will be an open and active candidate for the Republican nomination for president, no other course being open to him under the circumstances.

Thus Daugherty, who is always making trouble among his own party fellows, flings the first brick in the family jar. By circumstances he means the action of certain former Bull Moosers, whom Harding placed on the advisory committee that he was given sole authority to constitute, haven't played the game square and they attempted to forestall Harding's presidential aspirations, working in the guise of his friends, but secretly plotting against him.

Those astute ones, who jeer at Daugherty and say he is always on the losing side will find he is announcing something that will make them the busy boys for the next six months. Harding is running afoul of some strong opposition here in his own state, but it is a tactical mistake to assume, at the beginning, that he hasn't his friends and his supporters.

While back he was the one leader that all looked to and his prestige hasn't all flown by any means and he has cohorts, who will not desert him until some crushing defeat shows his star is set for good.

Then there is another mistake, this assumption that the Republicans of Ohio are needing only the huckle call to rally to the standard of General Wood. There is no evidence here or anywhere else that Wood is a popular hero or that gathering strength shows he is sweeping irresistibly on to the presidential nomination. Indeed, the attitude of the party towards him seems to be one of perplexity, as if it were always asking itself the question: "Why Wood?"

So far as the trouble in the state party is concerned it will make no material difference whether Wood develops strength or not. The elements back of him are not so much interested in his candidacy as they are in the plot to get Harding out of the way and place themselves in control. And that is where the main friction will be, who is to run the party hereafter?

ONE OF THE BEST OF ALL

THE farm bureau will put on a membership drive during the month of December. The bureau has caught the spirit of the age and means to be bigger, better and brighter than ever and will not be satisfied even for the occasion until it has secured at least a thousand members.

The farm agent service is the best and greatest action Seito county agricultural interests ever took. The bureau is its right hand. No matter how energetic and capable the farm agent may be his success can not be wide and rapid unless he has behind him an earnest and enthusiastic organization. This the bureau has been, but it now proposes to increase its influence and help. The first step in this is naturally a larger numerical strength and this it proposes to get. The membership dues are placed at one dollar per year, only a nominal sum, but the desire of the bureau isn't so much for more funds as it is for recruits in making Seito county what she really ought to be, the most progressive farming community in the state.

The farm agent and the bureau have accomplished much. They have promoted the selection of better seed for planting, the use of lime and other fertilizers and the introduction of high grade stock, to say nothing of the grander things, the wider introduction of better methods of cultivation and the enkindling of a generally more progressive spirit.

There is no reason why every farmer in the county should not join the bureau. His fellow-farmers can help him and his neighbor can help him by all joining in a common union to a common purpose. The town, in the organization of the chamber of commerce has just shown what right effort can do. It would be a great thing, a splendid thing, the best thing Seito county can do right now if her farmers would determinedly set out not only to rival the town, but to outdo it. The accomplishment isn't impossible. Why it is easy, if only a hundred farmers will set out in confidence and energy to bring it about.

The mayor of Cincinnati bemoans that ex-service men were guilty of some disorder. Well enough in its way, but wouldn't it be a better way to see that the provocation to disorder is suppressed long before it inflames to violence?

Egypt has been granted self-government. The question is: What is Egypt going to do with it now that she has it?

One reason why we want is because we waste. There are a thousand rabbits hanging before the Portsmouth grocery stores this very minute. The pelts of everyone of them will be carelessly tossed aside when the bunnies are prepared for the frying pan, yet they would bring a fancy price on the St. Louis fur market and come back to us in the shape of wraps and coats for which our women folks would pay anywhere from $250 to $500 for.

Uncle Sam may have his own ample and sufficient reasons why he means to take the census in January, instead of June, but it means the Peerless is going to be set down for less than she ought to be, since the annexation projects can not be pushed through in time to add the population of the territories acquired to her's.

SHE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

Why I should have thought of like a person walking in an unlighted room, I have not given a thought to an unpossessed object and feeling a rather strange, Eric Sands mentioned her rural curiosity to find out what it is again as that of the woman he had seen Jim at the theatre with while I was away. What I told Eric at the time I covered precisely what I felt—that Jim had as much right to keep up his old acquaintance with Mrs. Frisbie as I had to be walking and talking to him, Eric.

I have not had a shadow of a jealousy thought concerning this woman since that day, long ago, before we left centerville, when I found Jim buying her a purse for a Christmas gift.

"She's the wife of the man who gave me my first job," Jim had explained. And that's all there was to it. I dismissed it from my mind.

When Eric mentioned her I had had some thought of speaking of it to Jim. The time I got to it the thing seemed too trivial.

The Frisbies were doubtless in New York for a visit or something and my husband had accompanied the wife of his old friend for an evening's entertainment. Jim is always reluctant. He never "chimes" with me never tells me little happenings in his day's work. And I have trained myself to do without his confidence finding interests of my own filling in all my time with work—and—Oh how dear that work has grown to me!

As I write this I wonder if an unjealous wife is a rare bird. I find myself only rapidly interested in the strange phenomena of Jim's agitation at my remark last night.

I made a little shot in the dark—a mere jest—about his being in love with the stenographer or something. And Jim appears disconcerted. I feel that I didn't have to be took care of. I felt real happy and independent like. There ain't no feelin' quite so ex-biter as havin' your pocketbook an' your rooms all to yourself an' no questions asked.

And there is a crowd deal of truth in Magie's philosophy. Nevertheless, I shall ask Jim about Fanny Frisbie.

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Manhattan underworld vendetta reared its head out of the darkness of Shinbone alley the other night and lacked "Louie the Barber" to death. Shinbone alley is a short, dismal spout stretch of ugly thoroughfare between Bleecker and Fourth streets. So far as I know it is the only alley in the city.

It is frequented by heavy jostled, blue bearded youths with very low foreheads and of foreign nationalities—chiefly Italians. They are graduates of the corner cigar store and peddlars of the neighborhood and live off of women and petty graft.

The murder serves to remind New York of the continued activities of the vendetta and of the inevitable character of the tenements of the underworld. In daylight society "Louie the Barber" was known as Edgardo Giuliano, and for years he had been a marked figure in night society—for even Shinbone alley declines to harbor deeds of darkness in the light of day. Giuliano had gained the edulity of the gangsters by an infraction of the ethics of the etiquette of the underworld of which he had elected to become a citizen. His life since that violation of the code of thieves and murderers has been beset by watchful eyes in all his goings and all of his comings. He never went out to buy a paper, but what his "shadow" watched.

He was a marked man. The revelation of the still life and the black-jack have been shadowing him by day and by night. The discovery of his murdered body in Shinbone alley the other morning, was no cause for surprise. The neighborhood shrugged its collective shoulder.

People in Shinbone alley know the vendetta never forgives—never pities. It wreaks vengeance with an unflinching hand. It applies with sinister exactness the Moslem principle of retribu-

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAYS NEWS

ELIHU ROOT

Though he is approaching his seventy-fifth year, the mind of Elihu Root, dean of New York lawyers, remains clear and active. Were it otherwise, he would not have been retained as chief counsel for the brewers in their conventions before the U. S. supreme court that the prohibition statutes, particularly the Volstead law, are unconstitutional. The great question with which he is now grappling requires all the keen reasoning and the masterly grasp of facts which distinguished him when he had reached the height of his professional renown. Mr. Root was known as a great corporation lawyer, with a practice that brought him in more than a quarter of a million dollars annually, when he was named by President Roosevelt as secretary of war. His success in this important cabinet position led Colonel Roosevelt later to appoint him secretary of state. Here also he distinguished himself and later when he went to the United States senate he was instantly recognized as one of the handful of superlatively able men in that body.

A master mind, a mind serene, sane and efficient, "men used to say of Elihu Root when he was active in politics and statescraft that he is now. The same phrase would be descriptive of him today as, with slight undimmed and vigor unabated, he grapples with the big questions of this era of reconstruction.

Mr. Root was born at Clinton, N. Y., February 15, 1815.

He was an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.

The police believed that the vendetta would die with prohibition. They attributed its sudden flare of to drink crazed lawlessness. But since July 1 there has been more trouble in the underworld than there was in the preceding six months. The underworld so it is reported has taken to drugs which means increased violence.

Newspaper readers who remember the "Buster Brown" cartoons of Richard Outcault, with their famous characters—Buster, Mary Jane and Tige—will be pleased to learn that Mary Jane has grown up and is playing a role in "Lightnin'" on Broadway.

Mary Jane was the original little girl of her father's cartoons. Most cartoonists draw upon their imagination for their characters, but Mr. Outcault merely transferred his little daughter from real life to paper. And now Mary Jane is a big girl and playing on the White Way.

There were some rare old time minstrel acts at the 45th anniversary of the joining together of McIntyre and Heath, the comedians. I saw Harry J. Sykes, who wrote "The Ra Ra Boom de" the first popular song hit I can remember. And Bill Henry was there. Most of this generation remember him.

He had a good minstrel show. He wore a lot of diamonds at the banquet. Then there were Fred Wilson, Edward Le Roy Rice, Low Benedit and Charles Morris.

Theatre tickets are selling for $5 and $10 for many of the best shows. Vandeville too is taking a great new lease of life. Never was the theatrical business so good—but the cafe business is dead. People rush home to their own little dollars and suppers.

THANKSGIVING DINNER!

All In The State of Mind

If you think that you are beaten, you are.

If you think that you dare not, you don't.

If you'd like to win but you think you can't,

It's almost a "cinch" you won't.

If you think you'll lose, you've lost.

For out in the world you find Success begins with a fellow's will.

It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost

Ere even a step is run.

And many a coward fails

Ere even his work is done.

Think big and your dream will grow;

Think small, and you'll find it behind.

Think that you can and you will—

It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're encircled, you are;

You've got to think high to rise;

You've got to be sure of yourself before

Among the popular songs in the vaude-

"Freckles" and "Hawaina Lullaby," which seem to have registered the most popular approval. Moving picture theatres are not being forgotten in the rush.

You can ever win a prize. Life's battles don't always go To the stronger or faster man; But soon or late, the man who wins Is the fellow who thinks he can.

Thanksgiving Song

In a local second grade school room

Wednesday, the teacher asked her pupils

if any of them knew a "Thanksgiving song. One bright-faced little chap raised his hand and told the teacher he knew one. When asked the name of the song he replied in all earnestness, "Turkey in the Straw."

Consoling Thought

"You're looking blue Doc. What's the matter?" "Well, I'll tell you. A patient I began to treat died this morning." "Ah, cheer up. He might have died even if you hadn't been called."—

Toledo Blade.

Yes Of Course

The sweet young thing was asking questions. "What are those ships?" she inquired. "Them's 'orn-of-war,'" replied the old sail.

"Oh! and what are the little ones

just in front?"

"Them's just tugs."

"Oh, yes, of course; tug-of-war. I've heard of them."

Wanted Job As Vampire

"I was at work in my office the other day," said a man who is in charge of employing the help at a shoe manufacturing company in the city, when a rather pretty girl of a brunette type, came simpering in. I was at a loss to account for her attitude since I saw nothing worth noticing either in the young body or myself or in the general situation.

"I seen in the newspaper, you are looking for a woman," she said coyly.

"Why, yes, an advertisement for vampires. What do you know about vampir-ing?" I asked.

"Well, I don't do them boys," she replied, "but I guess I could learn. Where do you take the pictures?"
